Class 13 Worksheet

Write a mole balance design equation that can be used to model any one experiment:

Write the rate expression to be tested:

Substitute the rate expression into the design equation and linearize the resulting model for any one experiment:

Show how to calculate y and each of the x's in the linearized model for any one experiment